

Other Search Institute Resources

Resources for Parent Education

Parenting with a Purpose

This booklet, part of the Everyone's an Asset Builder series, challenges parents to view parenting through the asset framework. It highlights how the new ideas can positively reshape major parenting tasks and suggests ways parents can find support in the community.

#328

$3.95

What Kids Need to Succeed: Proven Practical Ways to Raise Good Kids

This easy-to-read, practical book presents the framework of 30 developmental assets and shows their importance to helping youth make positive life choices. It includes more than 500 commonsense ideas for building each asset, checklists to help parents identify the assets in their own young people, and special "Tips for Teens" sections to help young people shape their own success. (Published by Free Spirit.)

#326

$4.99

It Takes More than Love

Parents and well-known experts share ideas for how parents can help children and adolescents grow up healthy and competent in this four-part video series. Based on Search Institute's framework of developmental assets, It Takes More than Love outlines a positive parenting philosophy and offers practical ideas for nurturing in kids the values, skills, and commitments needed to help them make responsible, healthy choices. (Produced by LSS of Minnesota, Fairview Behavioral Services, and Seraphim Communications.)

Basic Curriculum Package includes: four-part video series (two tapes); What Kids Need to Succeed (see above); Just Watch Us! workbook/leader's guide with reproducible handouts; Building Blocks, a take-home video; and promotional materials.

#620

$99.95

Family Package includes: What Kids Need to Succeed; the Just Watch Us! workbook; and the Building Blocks take-home video.

#619

$24.95

Living with 10- to 15-Year-Olds

Parents are often bewildered by the physical, intellectual, and emotional changes their young adolescents experience. This popular curriculum equips leaders in schools, community groups, congregations, and other organizations to provide families with in-depth information and guidance through a series of workshops addressing early adolescent development, family interaction, communication, sexuality, and risk-taking behavior. It can be used to conduct a full-scale conference or workshop series, or informal parent discussion/support groups. It includes planning suggestions, agendas, workshop designs for up to 20 hours, handouts, resource lists, and a publicity kit. (Training is recommended for use of this curriculum. For information, call Search Institute's Training Department at 1-800-888-7828.)

#601

$75.00

Starting Out Right: Developmental Assets for Children

This report offers new frameworks for understanding and building the foundation that children from birth through age 11 need to begin a healthy life. This report blends Search Institute's extensive research on adolescence with the literature on child development and the practical wisdom of people who work with and care for children. It includes practical ideas for building assets for different age groups, extensive information on the impact of each asset on children, useful charts and detailed descriptions of how assets fit the distinct needs of infants, toddlers and preschoolers, and elementary-age children.

#364

$14.95

150 Ways to Show Kids You Care

A major reason adults don't form relationships with kids is that they don't know what to do. Use this unique handout to inspire and motivate adults with practical ideas for showing kids they care. Great for supporting your initiative. Distribute to parents, teachers, youth workers, congregations, and community residents.

#355

packet of 20 $9.95

Creating Intergenerational Community: 75 Ideas for Building Relationships Between Youth and Adults

Eat lunch with young people in a school cafeteria. Plant a garden with kids in your neighborhood. Invite a group of youth to plan, prepare, and serve a meal to their parents. These are just 3 of the 75 easy ideas this booklet offers. Perfect for anyone or any group wishing to build relationships between youth and adults.

#670

$4.95

These and other resources and services on asset building are available from Search Institute, 700 South Third Street, Suite 210, Minneapolis, MN 55415, 1-800-888-7828 or 612-376-8955.